Unfavorable State of Affairs in Liberia.

Advices from Liberia are most unfavorable and discouraging. The new administration's financial statement is looked forward to with great anxiety. It is stated that much of the proceeds of the English loan has been wasted in England in law suits. President Payne, aided by the presence of a British man of war succeeded in compelling peace with the Cape Palmas native tribes, and returned to Monrovia.

The Salonica Outrage was Premeditated.

LONDON, May 11.—Special dispatches from Odessa represent that the Salonica outrage was premeditated. All the consuls except the British, had warned the governor and the Porte that a massacre was intended. A feeling of insecurity prevails among the Christians and Europeans in Turkey. The plot was discovered in Constantinople last week, of which Dervish Pasha was the head. He persuaded the Sultan that an attack on the sultan's Palace was meditated. The Governor of Rodosto had also armed the Mahommedan population of that place, but received orders to disarm them. On receipt of the news of the Salonic outrage the insurrection in Bulgaria gained ground. The insurgents hold Bellos and a portion of the Roumelian railway adjacent thereto.

The Execution of the Salonica Murderers Demanded.

A Paris correspondent says the interchange of views at Berlin on Salonica affairs resulted in a collective demand on the part of the European powers for the execution of the murderers, the indemnification of the families of the victims, a solemn salute to the French and German flags by the Turkish authorities and guarantees against similar massacres.

CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION.

OPENING CEREMONIES.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—To-day being a legal holiday in this State all places of business in the city are closed and bunting is displayed in profusion in all the thoroughfares, and to night there will be a grand illumination. The gates of the exhibition were promptly opened at 9 A. M. and since that hour there have been at all the different entrances a continuous pour. The clouds which had, up to 7 A. M., been very threatening, have now entirely disappeared, and indications are that the day will be extremely hot. Foreign commissioners and other distinguished visitors and guests are being seated with very little confusion, their entrance being effected through the main exhibition hall, which will remain closed till noon. The ceremonies opened at precisely 10 A. M., the national airs of all nations being performed by the large orchestra. It is estimated that 90,000 people are on the grounds, and the populace are still pressing at all the various entrances. Every available spot in the neighborhood of the grand stand in front of Memorial Hall is occupied by crowds who are now impatiently awaiting the arrival of the President of the United States, who has been escorted to the main entrance by the military.

11:30 A. M.—The inauguration ceremonies are now fully under way. At 10:30 Dom Pedro arrived and was escorted to his seat by Gen. Hawley. At 10:45 Gen. Sheridan and wife passed over from the building to the stand in front of Memorial Hall, during the rendition of the national airs and was greeted with great applause, which he gracefully acknowledged. He was closely followed by Hon J. G. Blaine, and Senator Jones of Nevada and wife. At 11:55 the President entered the Memorial Hall and was conducted to his seat in front of the platform. Gov Hartranft, General Hawley and J. D. Morrill occupied seats on his left, while Messrs John Welch and A. T. Gosborn were on his right. Considerable amusement was caused by the sudden appearance of Fred Douglass, who had by some mishap worked his way through the crowd and was helped over the ropes by the officers and conducted to a seat on the platform. He was greeted with cheers.

Second Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—10 A. M. The morning was very rainy, with a prospect of a steady rainy day but the indications are now that the clouds will break, the rain cease and the original programme of opening ceremonies be carried out. The city is crowded with visitors, the trains last evening and this morning having come from all directions with crowds of passengers from abroad. The streets are all ablaze with flags, and, notwithstanding the rain, patriotic decorations are numerous. A fine Exposition opening is the only hope of conversation. Since early in the morning, throngs of people, on foot, in street cars, carriages, wagons and steam cars have been pouring toward the Centennial grounds in anticipation of the opening of the gates. This morning early a military parade, comprising portions of the first division, took place, passing through the principal streets of the city.

10:10 A. M.—The sky has cleared, and the weather is beautifully sunny, but not too warm. The grounds are in very good condition, in spite of the hard rains. The gates were opened at a little after 8 o'clock, and crowds have been pouring in ever since. It is estimated that 50 000 people are now on the grounds, and still there is a constant rush of people through the gates. The favorable change in the weather will permit the original programme to be carried out and a spacious platform has been erected at the buildings; seats are arranged on the platform for the officials and other invited guests. At the right of the center are seats for the President of the United States and members of the Cabinet, and further to the right, seats for the United States senators, members of the House of Representatives, Governors of the various States with their staffs, State officers, the Supreme Court and Legislature of Pennsylvania and representatives of the Army, Navy, the Smithsonian Institute, U. S. Judges, officers of the executive bureaus, members of the Woman's Centennial Commission.

On the left of the center are seats for the U. S. Supreme Court, and further to the left, seats for members of the Diplomatic Corps and members of the Centennial Commission, Board of Finance, the Woman's Executive Committee, Foreign Commissioners, the Mayor, Council and other officers of Philadelphia, the mayors of other cities, State Centennial Boards, Board of Award, judges of yacht and rifle clubs, and along the front of the platform are seats for members of the press.

The orchestra of one hundred and fifty pieces and a chorus of one thousand voices under the direction of Theodore Thomas and Dudley Buck, are stationed directly in front of the platform.

11:30 A. M.—At 11 o'clock the President's party, accompanied by the officials previously designated, proceeded to the platform, the President having been escorted to the grounds by Gov. Hartranft, with a division of military.

The platform at once crowded, and the surrounding space and all available points of elevation in the neighborhood were already occupied by the crowds of visitors. The orchestra, while the seats were being secured, played National airs, and after the party on the platform had arranged themselves, the orchestra played Wagner's Centennial March, which was received with applause. After the opening prayer by Bishop Simpson, of the M. E. Church and the singing of Whittier's Centennial hymn, the presentation of the buildings took place by the board of finance, with appropriate speeches and ceremonials, turning over the buildings to the commission. Next followed the singing of Sydney Lanier's cantata by the full chorus, accompanied by the orchestra. The applause of the vast crowd was enthusiastic, and portions of the music was encored, especially the basso solo, sung by Mr. Whitney, of Boston. The presentation of the exhibition to the President of the United States by President Hawley, of the U. S. commission, now followed, Hawley making an elaborate and heartily-applauded speech. When President Grant rose to respond, he was greeted with enthusiastic and long continued applause, followed by three cheers. So great was the confusion in the crowd, however, and so low the tone of voice in which the speech was read, that the people a few yards away could not hear what was uttered. The close of the President's brief address was followed by raising the flag on the main building, the signal that the exhibition was open. Salutes were fired, bells commenced ringing, the chorus began to sing the "Hallenjah Chorus," chimes commenced to ring various airs, and the President and invited guests, amid cries from the crowd began the procession through the main building and hall.

As the Emperor of Brazil and party came to the platform, they were loudly cheered and the orchestra played the Brazilian national hymn. Gen Hawley greeted the distinguished visitors. The Emperor was in citizen's dress and wore his decorations concealed under the lappel of his coat. The platform was by this time much crowded, and many guests were unprovided with seats. At 10 45 the signal was given for the music to stop, and five minutes later, the President escorted by General Hawley, advanced to the front platform and was loudly cheered. The orchestra then played "Hail to the Chief," during which time the President shook hands with the Emperor and Empress and other guests. It is now, (11:30,) estimated that there are over 100 000 people on the ground

At 11 o'clock Wagner's Centennial Inauguration March was performed by the orchestra, at the conclusion of which Bishop Simpson offered a prayer, during the rendering of which a majority of the vast assemblage stood with uncovered heads.

Prayer by Bishop Simpson.

Almighty and everlasting God our Heavenly Father, Heaven is Thy Throne and the earth Thy footstool. Before Thy Majesty and Holiness Thy angels veil their faces and the spirits of the just made perfect bow in humble adoration. Thou art the Creator of all things, the preserver of all that exists, whether they be thrones or dominions, or principalities or powers. The minute and the vast, the atoms and the worlds alike attest the omnipotence of Thy power and the omnipresence of Thy sway. Thou element the sovereign ruler of nations. Thou gatherth up one and casteth down another, and Thou givest the kingdom of the world to whomsoever Thou will. The past with all its records is the unfolding of Thy counsels, and the realization of Thy grand designs. We hail Thee as our rightful ruler, the king immortal and invisible, the only true God blessed for ever more. We come in this glad day, oh Thou God of our fathers, into these courts with thanksgiving and in to these gates with praise. We bless Thee for the wonderful goodness in the past, for the land which Thou gavest to our fathers, a land wrested from the ages, from the ancient wood, but revealed in the fullness of time to Thy chosen people whom Thou didst lead by Thine own right hand through the billows of the deep—a land of vast extent of towering mountains and broad plains, of unnumbered products and of untold treasure. We thank Thee for the fathers of our country, men of mind, of might, who endured privation and sacrifices, who braved multiplied dangers rather than violate their conscience or to be untrue to their God, who laid on the broad foundation of truth and justice the great structure of civil freedom. We praise Thee for the closing century as the century of the republic, for the immortal Washington and his associates, for the freedom with which they planted and the firmness and heroism which, under Thy blessing, led them to triumphant success—it was their shield in the hour of danger, their pillar of cloud by day and their pillar of fire by night. May we their sons walk in their footsteps and imitate their examples. We thank Thee for our national prosperity, and for the many and undoubtable discoveries and multiplied inventions and labor saving machinery, reducing the toil of the masses, for schools, from as the morning light for millions of the rising generation; for books and periodicals, scattered like the leaves of autumn over the land, for arts and science, for freedom to worship God according to the dictates of our conscience, for a church unfettered by trammels of the state. Bless, we pray Thee, the President of these United States and his constitutional advisers, the Judges of the Supreme Court, the senators and Representatives in Congress, the governors of all the several commonwealths, the officers of the army and navy, and all who are in official position throughout our land. Guide them, we pray, with counsels of wisdom, and may they ever rule in righteousness. We ask Thy blessing to rest upon the President and members of the Centennial Commission, and upon those associated with them in the various departments, and have labored long and earnestly amidst anxieties and difficulties for the success of this enterprise. May Thy special blessings, our God of all the nations of earth rest upon our national guests, our visitors from distant lands. We welcome them to our shores, and we rejoice in their presence among us whatever they represent, whether they come as loving culture and research, or whether they come to exhibit the triumphs of genius or art in the development of industry, and in the progress of civilization. Preserve them we beseech Thee, in health and safety, and in due time may they be welcomed by their loved ones again to their native lands. Let Thy blessings rest wholly upon this Centennial celebration; may the lives and health of all interested be precious in thy sight. Preside in its assemblies. Grant that this association in its efforts may bind more closely together every part of our great Republic, so that our Union may be perpetual and indissoluble. May its influence reach the nations of the earth into a happier unity. Here after, we pray Thee, may all disputes and questions be settled by arbitration, and not by the sword, and may wars for ever cease among the sons of men. May the new century be better than the past, more radiant with the light and truth and philosophy, more with the animation of the world's sympathy. May capital and labor be freed of all antagonism by the establishment of such principles of justice and equality as shall reconcile diversified interests, and bind in imperishable bonds all parts of society. We pray Thy benediction, especially on the women of our country, who for the first time in this history of our race take so conspicuous a place in a National celebration. May the light of their intelligence, purity and enterprise shed its beams afar in distant lands, so that their sisters may rehearse the beauty and glory of Christian freedom and civilization. We beseech Thee, Almighty Father, ever beloved, that the Republic may be strengthened in every element of true greatness, until her mission is accomplished by presenting to the world an illustration of the happiness of a free state under laws of their own enactment, and under rules of their own selection, acknowledging supreme allegiance only to the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, and as Thou didst give to one of its illustrious sons first to draw experimentally the electric spark from Heaven, which has girdled the globe in its celestial whispers of "Glory to God in the highest, peace on earth and good will to man" in the latest time, may the mission of America, under Divine inspiration, be one of affection, brotherhood and love for all our race, and may the coming centuries be filled with the memory of our Christian civilization. And unto Thee, our Father, through Him whose life is the light of men, will we ascribe glory and praise now and for ever. Amen.

At the conclusion of Bishop Simpson's prayer Whittier's hymn was sung with grand effect, eliciting loud applause.

Hymn.

BY JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER.

Our father's God, from out whose hand
The centuries fall like grains of sand
We meet to-day, united, free,
And loyal to our land and Thee—
To thank Thee for the era done,
And trust Thee for the opening one

Here, where, of old, by Thy design,
The father-speak that word of Thine
Whose echo is the glad refrain
Of rended bolt and falling chain
To grace our festal time, from all
The zones of earth our guests we call
Here, where the Red Man's war-trail grew
Through all the Western wilderness,
Unveiling all the triumphs won
By Art or Toil beneath the sun
And unto common good ordain
This rivalship of Hand and Brain—
Thou, who hast here in concord united
The war times of a gathered world,
Beneath our Western skies fulfill
The Orient's mission of good will,
And freighted with love's golden fleece,
Send back the Argonauts of Peace!
For Art and Labor met in truce,
For Beauty made the bride of use,
We thank Thee; while with these we crave
The mightier virtues strong to save
The honor proof to place or gold—
The manhood never bought nor sold!

O, make Thou us, through centuries long,
In peace secure, in justice strong!
Around our gift of freedom draw
The safeguards of thy righteous law,
And, cast in some diviner mould,
Let the new cycle shame the old

Presentation Speech.

Welch, President of the Board of Centennial Board of Finance, presented the building to the United States Centennial commission:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the U. S. Centennial Commission: In presence of the Government of the United States and of the several distinguished bodies by whom we are surrounded, and in behalf of the Centennial Board of Finance, I greet you in readiness at the appointed time. I have the honor to announce that I find under your supervision and in accordance with plans fixed and established by you, we have erected buildings belonging to the United States and have made all arrangements devolving on us necessary for opening the International Exhibition which we hereby now formally appropriate them for their intended occupation, and we hold ourselves ready to make all further arrangements that may be needed for carrying into full and complete effect all requirements of the acts of Congress relating to the Exhibition. For a like purpose, we also appropriate the buildings belonging to the State of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia, erected by us at their building, viz: Memorial Hall, Machinery Hall and Horticultural Hall. These, and other substantial offerings stand as evidence of their patriotic co-operation. To the United States our Almighty Father, ever beloved, that the Republic may be strengthened in every element of true greatness, until her mission is accomplished by presenting to the world an illustration of the happiness of a free state under laws of their own enactment, and under rules of their own selection, acknowledging supreme allegiance only to the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, and as Thou didst give to one of its illustrious sons first to draw experimentally the electric spark from Heaven, which has girdled the globe in its celestial whispers of "Glory to God in the highest, peace on earth and good will to man" in the latest time, may the mission of America, under Divine inspiration, be one of affection, brotherhood and love for all our race, and may the coming centuries be filled with the memory of our Christian civilization. And unto Thee, our Father, through Him whose life is the light of men, will we ascribe glory and praise now and for ever. Amen

At the conclusion of Bishop Simpson's prayer Whittier's hymn was sung with grand effect, eliciting loud applause.

To grace our festal time, from all
The zones of earth our guests we call
Here, where the Red Man's war-trail grew
Through all the Western wilderness,
Unveiling all the triumphs won
By Art or Toil beneath the sun
And unto common good ordain
This rivalship of Hand and Brain—
Thou, who hast here in concord united
The war times of a gathered world,
Beneath our Western skies fulfill
The Orient's mission of good will,
And freighted with love's golden fleece,
Send back the Argonauts of Peace!
For Art and Labor met in truce,
For Beauty made the bride of use,
We thank Thee; while with these we crave
The mightier virtues strong to save
The honor proof to place or gold—
The manhood never bought nor sold!

O, make Thou us, through centuries long,
In peace secure, in justice strong!
Around our gift of freedom draw
The safeguards of thy righteous law,
And, cast in some diviner mould,
Let the new cycle shame the old

Presentation Speech.

Welch, President of the Board of Centennial Board of Finance, presented the building to the United States Centennial commission:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the U. S. Centennial Commission: In presence of the Government of the United States and of the several distinguished bodies by whom we are surrounded, and in behalf of the Centennial Board of Finance, I greet you in readiness at the appointed time. I have the honor to announce that I find under your supervision and in accordance with plans fixed and established by you, we have erected buildings belonging to the United States and have made all arrangements devolving on us necessary for opening the International Exhibition which we hereby now formally appropriate them for their intended occupation, and we hold ourselves ready to make all further arrangements that may be needed for carrying into full and complete effect all requirements of the acts of Congress relating to the Exhibition. For a like purpose, we also appropriate the buildings belonging to the State of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia, erected by us at their building, viz: Memorial Hall, Machinery Hall and Horticultural Hall. These, and other substantial offerings stand as evidence of their patriotic co-operation. To the United States, through Congress, we have met with disappointment, difficulties and trials. They have been overcome by a consciousness that no sacrifice can be too great which is made to honor the memories of those who brought our nation into being. This commemoration of events of 1776 excites our profound gratitude. The assemblage here to-day of so many foreign representatives, uniting with us in this representative tribute, is our reward. We congratulate you on the occurrence of this day. Many nations have gathered here in peaceful competition. Each may profit by the competition, each may profit by the association. This exhibition is but a school, the more thoroughly its lessons are learned the greater will be the gain and when it shall have closed, if by that study the nations engaged in it shall have learned respect for others than it may be hoped that veneration of Him who sits on high will become universal, and all the earth sing once more, 'Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace and good will toward men.'

The speaker was frequently applauded

Gen Hawley then arose and said the president of the Centennial Commission accepted the great trust confided by the Board of Finance.

At 11:45 Lanier's Cantata was rendered.

Cantata,

BY SIDNEY LANIER, OF GLOUCESTER.

From this hundred termed light
A night more huge with nobler light,
Ranges down you towering years—
Humbler smiles and lordlier tears
Shine and fall, sing and fall,
While old cities rise and call,
Yonder where the to and fro
Wake ring of my long ago,
Moves about the moveless base,
Far below my resting place

May flower! May flower! slowly lither
Flying trembling westward over
Non halting sea—
Hearts within you Fatherland England
Sighing winds without but drear, in vain replying
Gray tipped waves above there, shouting, crying,
No! it shall not be!

James town out of the Plymouth—
Thee! thee Albany sister cried
Ye breeze, away!

Fever cries Ye burn away!
Hunger cries Ye starve away!
Venger cries Your graves shall stay!
Then old shapes and master of things
Framed like baths or clothed like kings—
Ghosts of sorts once fleshed and hair,
Grown foul days in after air—
War and the most mercy
Lords to night with lithe and poison'd sword—
Terror terror rage and crime!
All in a windy night of time—
Cries to me from land and sea,
No! thou shalt not be!
Hark! Huguen! which whispering;
Ye in the dark!
Puritans answering Ye to the dark—
Like an arrow shot true to his mark,
Darts through the tyrannous heart of denial,
Patience and labor and solemn spoiled trial
Foiled, still beginning—
Soiled, but no sinning—
Toil through the stubborn death of the night
Toil with hope when hearts were quite dark, the light,
Toil and forgive and live over and replight.
Now praise to God's oft granted grace!
Now praise to man's undaunted face!
Despite the land, despite the sea,
I was, I am, and I shall be!

How long good angel, O how long
Sing me from heaven a man's dark song,
Long as thine art shall love true love—
Long as thy science truth shall know—
Long as thine eagle harms an dove—
Long as thy law by laws shall grow,
Long as thy God is God above,
Thy brother every man below,
So long dear land of all my love,
Thy name shall shine, thy fame shall glow,
O, music from this height of time my word unfold
In this large signal all my hearts behold,
Bid heaven unroll thy chords in friendly flags unfurled,
And wave the words best love and welcome to the world.

Every word of the basso solo, by Myrom N. Whitney was distinctly audible at the rear of the great platform. The assemblage maintained excellent order throughout and loudly applauded Whitney, who acknowledged it by repeating a portion of the Cantata. At the close members of the chorus called for Buck, composer of the music, who made his appearance and bowed an acknowledgment of the compliment.

Presentation of the Exhibition to the President of the United States.

At 11:48 began the presentation of speeches by Gen Hawley, turning the Exhibition building over to the President of the United States.

Mr. President Five years ago the President of the United States declared it fitting that the completion of the first century of our national existence should be commemorated by an exhibition of the resources of the country and their development, and of its progress in those arts which benefit mankind, and ordered that an exhibition of American and foreign arts, products and manufactures, should be held, under the auspices of the government of the United States, in the city of Philadelphia, in the year 1876.

To carry into effect the several laws relating to the exhibition, the U. S. Centennial Commission was constituted of two commissioners from each State and Territory, nominated by their respective governments and appointed by the President. Congress also created our auxiliary and board of finance, whose unexpectedly heavy burdens have been nobly borne. The remarkable and paralyzed disturbance of the finances and industries of the country has greatly magnified the task, but we hope for a favorable judgment of the degree of success achieved. On July 4, 1873, this ground was dedicated to its present uses. Twenty-one months ago this Memorial Hall was begun. All the other 180 buildings within the enclosure have been erected within twelve months. All the buildings embraced in the plans of the commission have been finished.

The demands of applicants exceeded the space, and strenuous and continuous efforts have been made to get every exhibit ready in time. By general consent, the exhibition is appropriately added to the City of Brotherly Love. Yonder, almost within your view, stands the venerable edifice within which occurred the scenes that will be devoted to commemorate, and the hall in which the first Continental Congress assembled. Within the present limit of this great park were the homes of the eminent patriots of that era, where Washington and his associates received generous hospitality and added counsel on the very object of the impressing beauty of the situation placed at our disposal. In harmony with all this fitness is the liberal support given the enterprise by the city and people individually. In the name of the United States you have extended a respectful and cordial invitation to the governments and fathers nations to be represented here, to participate in the exhibition. You know the very acceptable terms in which they responded from even the most distant regions. Their commissioners are here, and you will soon see with what brilliancy they have entered upon this friendly competition in the arts of peace. It has been the great hope of the commission that during the festival year the people from all States and sections, of all creeds and churches, all parties and classes, burying all resentments would come up together to this birthplace of our liberties, study the evidence of our resources, to measure the progress of a hundred years and to examine the products of the skill and taste of our friends from other nations, but also satisfy you with the attainment made by our own people during the past 100 years. I invoke your generous co operation with the worthy commissioners to secure a brilliant success to this International Exhibition, and to make the stay of our foreign visitors to whom we extend a hearty welcome, both profitable and pleasant to them. I declare the International Exhibition now open. The ceremonies opened at 12 o'

The President was loudly cheered, the Emperor of Brazil rising in his seat and joining in the demonstration by waving his hat.

At 12 o'clock at a motion from Gen. Hawley the American flag was spread from the main building, and the Hallelujah Chorus was rendered with orchestra and organ accompaniment, a salute of 100 guns was fired from George's Hill, together with the ringing of chimes from different parts of the ground. During the performance of the chorus, the foreign commissioners passed from the platform into the main building and took their places upon the central aisle, before their respective departments after which the procession, headed by the President, passed through the main exhibition building to Machinery Hall, where the President, assisted by Dom Pedro, at 1:22 P. M., put in motion the great engine, thus starting all the machinery in that building. This closed the formal ceremonies of to-day. The military are now marching through the grounds, and all buildings are open.

The exhibition is now open, and progress through the building has just been concluded President Grant, Secretary Fish and other members of the cabinet, have just driven from the grounds. The cordons of guards have been removed from the approaches to the main hall, Memorial Hall and Machinery Hall, and all parts of the Exposition are now open to the public. The crowds which have heretofore lined both sides of all the approaches where the procession passed, have dispersed to all parts of the grounds. Queens are resounding on all sides, bells are ringing, bands playing in all directions, and the Centennial Exhibition of 1876 is formally opened.

Two o'clock P. M.—After the reception in Judges Hall, the President was driven through the grounds. The visitors generally appear satisfied with the exhibition. The Empress of Brazil, escorted by Mrs. Gillespie, visited the Women's Pavilion this afternoon and made a tour of all the aisles and passages. There were no formalities attending the visit. Dom Pedro also visited the pavilion and gave emphatic approval of the work there displayed by the American women. One of the most impressive scenes of the day took place in Machinery Hall, when the President, assisted by his Imperial Majesty, Dom Pedro, started the motive power of that hall. At a signal from Gen. Hawley, the President and the Emperor each seized the crank which opened the valves and turned it several times. A sound was at once heard which gave to the people understanding that the engine was about to move. The monstrous 70 ton flywheel began to move slowly, increased gradually in rapid ity until it was traveling at its full speed. Gen. Hawley started the hurrah, which was taken up by the surrounding multitude, and deafening

COST OF LIVING AT PHILADELPHIA.

One of the principal causes of the financial failure of the most recent international exhibition that at Vienna was the inordinate greed of the hotel and shopkeepers of that city, which drove visitors away and prevented thousands more from going We are glad to be informed that this error will be guarded against at Philadelphia Ample accommodations have been provided for all strangers at very reasonable rates within the city and still cheaper ones can be found outside in the many small towns lying within a few miles distance The Philadelphia Inquirer says that Philadelphia if it has no conscience and no hospitality, has some business ideas, and will not drive away strangers by extortion The proprietors of the principal hotels have bound themselves not to charge more than $3 a day and outside of these good board is promised for from $8 a week upward though how far upward we are not told Furnished rooms for lodgers only may be had at $4 a week and comfortable meals in restaurants at about fifty cents each Newspapers throughout the country are desired to reproduce this information for the benefit of those who love to see sights economically

Commenting upon this statement, the New York Tribune says So far as our own observation has extended, there is a general feeling throughout the country against submitting to anything like extortion Visitors will go in great numbers but if the rates are made at all unreasonable they will not stay. Moreover, there are plenty of towns within easy distance of Philadelphia in which strangers can be pleasantly and economically lodged and it would not be at all surprising if New Jersey, and even New York, should secure a fair share of the pecuniary profits of the great occasion There is, we think, a perfect willingness that Philadelphia should reap a good harvest She had a historical right to whatever advantages were to be derived from locality, and she has exhibited a good degree of enterprise in the preliminary arrangements That there will be any general attempt on her part to turn the celebration into a mere money-making affair we do not believe What is desirable is to render the individual and isolated cases of greed as few as possible Shopkeepers the owners of lodgings, and the purveyors of victuals should understand that nothing like swindling will be submitted to. The matter is thoroughly understood everywhere, and visitors will act upon their knowledge.

NINETEENTH CENTURY PROJECTS.

Among the many projects now attracting the attention of scientific and would-be scientific men, are several to which the slang epithet "immense" is not inapplicable

One of these is the projected transformation of the desert of Sahara into a navigable sea by draining into it the waters of the Mediterranean, which is to be kept full by the influx from the Atlantic ocean through the Straits of Gibraltar. This scheme was first proposed by a French engineer, who insists, with a Frenchman's earnestness, that it is perfectly feasible

The second is a similar plan, which emanated from the fertile brain of a Herald correspondent, to pour the water of the Caspian sea into the basin lying around about Kiva in Khokand, in order to cause that barren locality to blossom as the rose

The third scheme is the proposal of a crack brain Kentucky preacher to inaugurate eternal spring by establishing a battery of columbiads on the Aleutian Islands, to be constantly discharged and thereby to cause all the cold winds to blow over the warm Pacific ocean and become tempered to the proper degree before reaching land

The fourth is the plan for navigating the air said to have been invented by a German savant residing in Baltimore, who declares his ability to produce a machine which shall traverse the air in any direction, with or against the wind, and carry along with it passengers and freight.

The fifth is the Keely motor which is a machine by means of which a teaspoonful of water is caused to generate force enough to draw a train of cars with the ease and rapidity of the best locomotives and that too, without consuming the water

The sixth is General Pleasanton's plan for illimitably increasing the vital powers of nature, and for curing all diseases by the transmission of light through panes of blue glass Of the virtues of this last plan and the great value to the animal and vegetable world claimed for it some ides may be formed from the perusal of an extract to be found in another column If it can perform only a small percentage of what is claimed for it, we may bid good by to disease, sickness medicine and doctors All that we will have to do will be to insert blue panes in our windows and pull up the curtains This altogether too good to be true and we are compelled to withhold our belief both in it and the other immense projects for the amelioration of the condition of mankind and other purposes

The fervent and impressive prayer of Bishop Simpson at the opening of the Centennial fully sustains his great reputation for eloquence and piety The poem of Whittier though full of merit is hardly equal to what was expected from him and will not add to the high estimate his admirers The grand cantata composed by Tanner and set to music by Dudley Buck we give to our readers just as it came over the wires As is reported to have been highly applauded it is evident that we have not received an accurate copy of it At some future time we may be able to present it to our readers as it was written and performed when it will, no doubt be found to be elegant and appropriate

Judge Davis is a Marylander by birth, a New Englander by education and marriage but has spent his active life in Illinois He was the trusted friend of President Lincoln and goes for principle first party If the mantle of the martyr President should fall on Judge David Davis we shall feel confident a wise and pure administration of the government —Lee Gil

THE SECRET OF WESTON'S ENDURANCE

The wonderful endurance of Weston the "walking wonder, has often been the subject of discussion, It is now stated by the New York Herald that this power is due to the invigorating effects of coca, a shrub growing on the highlands of the Andes—a totally different thing from cocoa—the dried leaves of which are chewed by all classes but especially by the poor who are reported to be thereby enabled to undergo extraordinary labor and privation of food Like tobacco its action varies with dose and habit being stimulant in moderate quantity to the initiated, and narcotic in overdose or in the novice The symptoms of intoxication produced by a comparatively heightened temperature quickened pulse strong desire for active locomotion with increased sense of strength and agility followed by apathy and sleep from which the patient wakes without debility or unpleasant feelings, its habitual employment in medium doses induces a sensation of calmness and apparently diminishes the wear and tear of the tissues, facilitating muscular exertion and preventing the sensation of weariness even under insufficiency of food and sleep The South American natives mix a chalk with the coca quid but this is simply a matter of taste and in no way essential to the efficacy of the leaves themselves which are rustically unadulterated In Mr Weston and the few European experimenters who have essayed it their use Sir Robert Christison, one of the oldest living physicians testified to the wonderful influence of coca in his own person during a mountain climbing expedition last summer We are told that coca has been successfully prescribed in gastric disorders its effect being to promote digestion and to allay colic pains It is said of this he true we have manifestly a luxury to be commended to all classes to supplant chewing gum in maidenhood, to take the place of coral in infancy to solace the spectator whose 'points' prove disappointing to cheer the pallid valetudinarian, to preserve Jack Tar from the malefic influences of salt junk in short, to go far toward retrieving the consequences of Adam's fall—who by the way, had he known the virtues of coca, might have abstained from apples without inconvenience

CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION

By an ingenious contrivance of Mr W S Philips superintendent of the telegraph every one of the eighty turnstiles set at the several entrances of the grounds will be connected by wire with a dial in the main office of the Centennial commission When a person enters through a turnstile he is instantaneously registered on this dial At any instant of the day, therefore, it will be possible to know by glancing at the dial, the exact number of people who have passed the gates and are within the exhibition grounds and buildings

Another enterprise which concerns the comfort of visitors especially of ladies is that of the Centennial Rolling Chair Co According to the latest estimates the aisles of the principal exhibition buildings will make up a walk forty miles long which, with delays for the examination of articles would occupy the most eager pedestrian five or six days The device of rolling chairs, moderately adopted abroad, will be tried here extensively The company have already ordered 300 chairs, which will be elevated on wheels as noiseless as possible, and will be broad enough for one person or two children Chairmen in uniform informed of the chief places of interest are to be in service, and chairs may be engaged by note or telegraph, at any hour, at any entrance to any one of the buildings One who comes with a lady, his wife or his children may engage a chair and roll it himself if he likes As at present understood the charge will be 30 or 40 cents an hour

A responsible officer of the Exhibition assures me that the restaurant charges in the grounds will not be allowed to be exorbitant, and that a man will be able to get as good a dinner for $1 or (including a pint bottle of wine ($1 50, as he can get elsewhere There will be lunchrooms where a satisfactory lunch is promised for 25 cents or 50 cents, and "Dairies" similar to those in New York and Boston where a bowl of mush or rice and milk, can be had for about 20 cents —New York World

C F Tracy, of Boston, exhibits a knife which, he says, belonged successively to Miles Standish, Massasoit, King Philip and Capt. Winslow, and which was carried through Philip's war, the revolution and the war of 1812 It was made, he says by Richard Harlakenden and presented to Capt Standish, just before the sailing of the Mayflower, and it helped to make the cradle of Peregrine White the child born on the Mayflower It was presented by Standish to Samoset the chief who was deputed to welcome the Englishmen Samoset gave it to Massasoit Massasoit gave it to Philip Capt Wm Tracy during Philip's war took it from that monarch and offered to return it to Capt Standish who bade him keep it About 1720 it came into the possession of the Bates family William Bates Jr carried it all through the Revolution, including the skirmish on Bunker Hill and a son of his William Bates 3d carried it through the war of 1812 It is about eight inches long, and has a buck horn handle

Paris has already began to prepare for a world's fair in 1878 Twenty four millions of dollars are asked of the government for city improvements in anticipation. With this sum it is intended to raise the quays so as to prevent inundations replace the ruins of the Tuileries and St Cloud by gardens construct an immense bridge over the Seine complete the Hotel Dieu and entrance to the Palace of Justice, rebuild the exterior of the Hotel de Ville and generally extend and improve the streets and boulevards and multiply the squares and public statues wherever practicable

BARREL COMPANY.—Among the [illegible] of industry now carried on [illegible] few are of more real importance [illegible] to the material interests of Oregon, than the [illegible] manufacture of barrels. While it is known [illegible] that a barrel factory at St. Johns, several miles below this city, yet there are but few [illegible] comparatively who are aware of the [illegible] extensive scale of operations on which the [illegible] business is conducted. This factory is [illegible] by W. K. Leveridge, Wm. [illegible] and R. O. Severance, and is known [illegible] as the Barrel Company. There are at [illegible] constantly employed in the manufacture of barrels, and 12 persons [illegible] preparing the timber before it is [illegible] to the factory. On an average, 900 barrels are turned out daily from the establishment, from 800 to 1,000 [illegible] each day, which are shipped [illegible] and used in packing canned [illegible] and the barrels turned out by the Oregon Barrel Company, are all made of cotton [illegible] wood along the Wallamet and Columbia. A PIONEER WHITE WOMAN.

A late number of the Record-Union says: "There arrived in this city a few days since, Mrs. John E. Shephard, of Salem, Oregon, formerly Mrs. William K. Beal, of Beal's Bar, North Fork of the American river. She has come to California to spend the summer and herself and husband will stop till nearly winter in San Francisco. She came to Sacramento yesterday solely to view the city and country, and hunt up some old Pioneer friends for auld acquaintance sake.

It is her first visit to Sacramento in twenty-six years. From a brief conversation with the lady we learn that she left St. Louis with her father, Mr. Eyre a Scotchman, in 1852, she being then but 9 years of age. They arrived in Oregon in 1853. They were a portion of the party led by Peter H. Burnett, who afterwards became Governor of California. In 1848, gold being discovered, Mr. Eyre and his daughter came in the old brig Henry to California, arriving in August of that year. They went at once to the American river mines, and this lady says she was the first white woman ever on the American river, or in any of the adjacent diggings. Her advent caused a lively excitement, and the young girl had but to hold up her finger to command a regiment of beaux, ready to defend her to the death. She married Mr. Beal—who is now deceased—when she was but fifteen years old, and lived at what became known as Beal's bar. Captain John St. Clair, who early followed Sutter to the country, owned a tract of land over the American river and subsequently sold it to Norris, from whom it derives its present name, the "Norris Ranch." St. Clair became a brother-in-law to Mrs. Beal, and she visited his family on the ranch, and part of the time lived there, and when the flood of '49 placed Sacramento under water, St. Clair and his lady went through the town in boats selling milk to those who wished to buy. She tells some amusing stories of the first public dances in Sacramento and at the mining bars, and the fearful demand made upon her to attend, she, with less than a dozen other white women whom she names, being the only available representatives of the sect who would attend dances in all this region, and on whom rested all the glory and honor in public balls, socials and society parties.

In 1850 her family left Sacramento to return to Oregon, and herself and husband also departed for the same country. She says they went from Sacramento to San Francisco on the old steamer Senator, and paid for that trip $50 each for passage, $10 each for stateroom, and $2 50 per head for meals. Her recollections of the flush days of Sacramento are very vivid and full of interest. She says she is here simply "to see how things have changed and find out who of the old pioneers yet live." She is a comely lady in the prime of life, highly intelligent, and of an inquiring and observant turn of mind. She is to stop here two or three days—long enough to shake hands with some of the gray-haired boys and girls of '49 and '50, and talk over the scenes of those early days.

AMUSEMENTS.

New Market Theater.—One of the most entertaining performances during the present season at the above popular place of amusement was given last evening. In their songs and dancing the Worrell Sisters were par excellence, while Knight—who is wonderfully clever—Richards and Jones appeared unusually funny, and, in their respective specialities, provoked great amusement. There is one feature connected with Mr. Corbyn's management which is certainly most commendable and worthy of complimentary mention—his motto is to give a good entertainment, regardless of the size of the audience. The reverse is the case with many other companies, for in almost every case it is natural to gauge the character of the performance by the number in attendance. Mr. Corbyn goes on the principle that those who come and pay their dollar (though there may be only a dozen) are as much entitled to get their money's worth as if the house is jammed, which is certainly the correct theory in regard to theatrical matters, and one which cannot fail to result satisfactorily. This evening, Mr. George S. Knight, the exceedingly clever Dutch comedian, will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit. On the occasion a splendid bill, varying from the grave to the ludicrous, will be presented. In addition to the full troupe, Mr. Chas. Vivian, who is deservedly one of the permanent favorites with this public, will appear in a number of his inimitable sketches, and contribute in no small measure to the attractions of the evening. Prof. Waud, the accomplished pianist, has also kindly volunteered, and will play the accompaniment for Mr. Vivian. We hope to see a crowded house. Mr. Knight, the recipient, has worked hard, and deserves a bumper. This is the last appearance of the troupe, as they leave to-morrow morning for Astoria, where they will give a performance in the evening.

BRIEF NOTES.

Last appearance of the Merry Makers this evening.

One year ago last Saturday the steamer Navigator blew up.

The steamship John L. Stephens arrived here yesterday morning.

The steamer brought 500 tons of assorted freight to this port.

Mrs. Walter Moffett has just received intelligence that she has been the lucky winner of a $15,000 prize in the Missouri State Lottery, on a ticket which Mrs. M. recently purchased.

In police court yesterday morning the following cases were disposed of: Patrick and Maria Kearney were each charged $5 for abusive language, and P. McManus $5 for being drunk.

From the top of every available flagstaff in the city yesterday colors were gaily streaming in the breeze in honor of the formal opening of the Centennial Exposition. Besides our national colors, the flags of Prussia, France, Sweden, Norway and the Hawaiian government were displayed.

Geo. S. Knight, the Worrell sisters and Charles Vivian appear to night at the New Market Theater.

Why is a store that don't advertise like Enoch Arden? Because it "sees no sale from day to day." Fishel & Roberts advertise, which is the reason that every man in the city knows that there is the best place to get everything new and handsome in the clothing line.

No man should be hungry while Barnes gets up those bit lunches.

More than half my scalp was without hair, and a smooth and shining surface for fifteen years; but now, owing to the benefits of the truly wonderful effects of the hair producers of Mrs. H. A. Moore, I am in possession of a healthy, vigorous growth of hair, three inches in length, which is an astonishment to myself and acquaintances.

BOARD OF TRADE.

Regular meeting of the Board of Trade was held last evening at 7:30 o'clock. Vice President Goldsmith in the chair, and Wm. Reid, secretary, in attendance.

Minutes of two previous meetings of the Board were read and approved.

Appropriations for River Improvements.—The following communication, written by J. B. Montgomery, Esq., from Washington, under date of April 9th, was read and placed on file:

The House committee of commerce have agreed to report $15,000 for the Upper Columbia, $15,000 for the Lower Columbia, and $5,000 for the Upper Wallamet. This is all that can be got, as the Democracy was determined to cut down all appropriations. The way these amounts were got at was this: The committee determined to appropriate only three-tenths of the amount recommended by the chief of engineers, which would have reduced our share to about $30,000,000; but we got $45,000. Senator Mitchell and Representative Lane wanted to get $50,000 to start a canal around the Cascades, but they did not succeed. If they had, it would perhaps have been at the expense of all the improvements already started. At one time it looked as if the Democracy were determined to cut off all appropriations for rivers and harbors, but our Southern brethren are very keen now to get improvements for their rivers, and as they control the party that is in power in the House of Representatives, Samuel J. Randall, and other Democratic economists, were compelled to yield.

The Northern Pacific bill, extending the time of its completion, will no doubt pass the House when it can be reached. I think it will pass the committee at its next meeting.

Letter to Henry Villard, Esq.—His Answer.—Important Railroad and Steamship Matters.

The following letter was addressed by the Board to Mr. H. Villard:

Portland, April 28, 1876.

Henry Villard, Esq., President O. & C. R. R. Co., Portland:—The chairman of our railroad committee mentioned to me this morning that you had expressed surprise that we had not asked your new company what they would do in helping Oregon to get railroad connection, and that your friends would be disposed to accept half the terms made by Mr. Huntington. At the request of the chairman I called to see you this forenoon and did not find you disengaged, and my object in now writing is to assure you that we as a committee and board of trade have no interest in one route more than another, and would be happy, cheerfully, to have your kind co-operation in bringing about that which we all so much need. We recognize that you have now far greater interests at stake in this country than perhaps ourselves, and we will welcome with pleasure any proposal or assistance you may be pleased to give us."

When I say that it affords the mercantile community here pleasure to hear that you and friends are now in possession of the Oregon railroad interests I say less than the feeling really is. The trade and commerce of this city I know welcome the change made.

Yours truly,

WILLIAM REID, Secretary.

Mr. Villard's Response.

Office of O. & C. R. R. Co., Portland, Or., May 2, 1876.

William Reid, Esq., Secretary of the Board of Trade—Dear Sir.—Your esteemed favor of 28th ult., was duly received, and would have received earlier attention but for the great pressure of my many duties.

In reply, I beg to express frankly the surprise I felt at the failure of the Board of Trade to take any notice whatever of the transportation interests, which I represent in behalf of their European owners, during the recent negotiations between the Board and the Central Pacific Railroad Company. Every farminded man will readily admit that the transportation lines now under my management have, in spite of all past mistakes, contributed largely to the prosperity of Oregon. Hence it seems to me strange that regardless of this fact a scheme should have been perfected without even so much as advising with us, which if carried out, would have placed our interests at the mercy of the powerful combination of capital invited to the State by your board. We certainly could not be expected to remain indifferent spectators when we had so much at stake. We had, to be sure, taken measures to protect ourselves in the contingency of the Central Pacific taking hold of railroad enterprises in this State, by coming to an informal understanding for co-operation with that company. But as your board had no information of this, we still could justly feel aggrieved at the total disregard of our interests by the board. Not being asked for suggestions or propositions, it was not our part to volunteer them. The negotiations with the Central Pacific, however, having now practically come to nought, it may not be improper for me to say that, in my opinion, it is not in the true interest of Portland, or the State at large, to seek a direct railroad connection with the Central Pacific. With such a connection the latter would always absolutely control the commercial interests of the State, and Oregon would never be anything else than a mere dependency of California. This will at once become apparent to any one looking carefully into the subject. Say this notwithstanding the fact that the Oregon and California Railroad was built with a view to such connection, and that our interests might be materially improved by it.

I feel grateful for the expression of satisfaction and sympathy with the change of management which you kindly convey to me in behalf of the commercial community, and I would state that the mercantile and agricultural interests of this city and State will have no reason to regret the change. Notwithstanding the enormous losses on their present investments in Oregon, those I represent will not hesitate to make further large outlays for the improvement of the transportation lines under our control. As the State for some time to come is likely to be dependent mainly for ready communication with the outside world upon the line of steamers to San Francisco, we believed to be serving the interests of Oregon best, and to meet the long entertained wishes of the public by putting on two new steamers as early as possible. The new steamers will have much larger carrying capacity than those now running, and much better accommodations for passengers. They will be provided with the most improved machinery, and will be faster than and far superior to any steamers now running on this coast. One will be running in the line by the middle of July. Not being able to purchase another outright, of all the steamers for sale on the Atlantic coast not one was found to be adapted to the wants of our trade except the one bought, we shall have a second one built so as to have it running here by next spring. We propose further, to complete the West-side road to Junction City. We are anxious to build twenty-five miles of the uncompleted distance this summer, and the remainder within the following two years. Whether we shall do the former will depend upon circumstances which I need not explain here. It is hardly necessary for me to allude to the beneficial influence upon the growth of the State these additional railroad facilities will naturally have.

The public will also find us at all times willing to help, to the extent of our ability, any legitimate enterprise promising to promote the material prosperity of the State. I may be permitted in this connection to refer to the expenditure of tens of thousands of dollars by us in the last two years in promoting immigration, through extensive advertising of the resources of Oregon in the leading newspapers of the country, by the gratuitous distribution of vast numbers of circulars and pamphlets, and the employment of special salaried immigration agents at San Francisco, Omaha and in the East and by contributing to a proper representation of Oregon at the Centennial Exhibition. The principle by further assured that though the control of the railroads and ocean and river lines are in the management will be in the true interests of Oregon. Knowing that the good will of the people is necessary to our success we intend to adopt a policy with which no fault can be found. We do not expect to earn anything like full interest on our investment. We shall be content with what would be considered a very unsatisfactory rate on other Oregon capitalists and liberal in our charges to the public accordingly.

We propose to conduct our affairs on a business way and to confine ourselves strictly to them, leaving to others the care of political and social problems.

The management will be found ready at all times to listen to proper complaints and apply the proper remedies.

Requesting you to lay this letter before your Board, and to give publicity to such parts of it as you may deem proper,

I remain very respectfully,

HENRY VILLARD.

For the owners of the O. & C. R. R. Co., R. R. and Oregon Steamship Company.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were presented and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That Mr. Villard's letter of the 2d inst. to the board enunciating the future policy of the company he represents in conducting their business and especially their declaration that they do not intend to interfere with political and social matters occurring in Oregon, is highly commendable.

Resolved, Further that the thanks of the board be extended to the Oregon and California R. R., Oregon Central R. R., and Oregon Steamship companies through Henry Villard, Esq., for the proposed extension of the west side railroad from St. Joe to Junction City, and the proposed addition of the two new steamers to the steamship line between Portland and San Francisco, thus affording to the people of this State and city additional facilities for freight and travel, and developing the State's interests; also that the secretary be and is hereby instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to Mr. Villard under the seal of the board.

On motion, the board adjourned.

NOTES FROM SALEM.

Social, Personal and Otherwise.

Under date of May 10th, our regular correspondent sends the following:

Hon. Sam Allen, of this city, is lying at the point of death.

The governor has appointed C. A. Freeman, of your city, a notary public.

The ladies of the M. E. church will hold a sociable at the parsonage this evening.

Clay H. Humphrey, of Eugene, is in the city, en route home from San Francisco.

The Statesman flaunts a steamer flag, and is advised by telegraph of its arrival in Portland.

A number of our young men are making preparations to move to San Francisco in the fall.

An entertainment is in rehearsal, to be given shortly, for the benefit of the College B. B. club.

A new voting precinct has been organized at Stayton, in this county, by order of the county commissioners.

The double calf is on exhibition here at the present time, and is not drawing crowded houses by any means.

Efforts are again on foot to have the railroad depot moved down into the city. It is to be hoped they may prove successful.

The Odd Fellows' Hall is being thoroughly renovated in anticipation of the Grand Lodge, which convenes on Tuesday next.

Nellie, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sears, of your city, was buried here yesterday, Rev. H. P. Peck officiating.

Ex-Mayor Monroe died in this yesterday after a long and painful illness, and will be buried Thursday at 10 o'clock A. M.

The vexed question of land titles to the university property has at length been settled, the trustees having secured a quit claim deed in full.

The railroad companies will issue half fare tickets to excursionists participating in the Pioneer reunion, which convenes June 16th and 17th.

The Howell Prairie postoffice has been reestablished and will be supplied by the Silverton route, of which R. C. Ramsby, Esq., is sub-contractor.

Baseball has quieted down somewhat. The clubs are not practicing with their customary vim, and unless they wake up a little, they may lose their grip. Those Centennial medals are worth contending for.

The students of the Willamette University are concluding arrangements for a grand musical and literary entertainment to be given at Reed's Opera House the last Monday in this month. It promises to be one of the grandest affairs ever given here, in which all the female students of the school will participate.

Thompson river bridge is finished. Teams have crossed it and the structure is pronounced a success.

AFFLICTED WITH CORNS.

Persons having corns will please not pare them for four or five days and then call on or send for Dr. Hallquist. He will remove or cure them without causing pain or lameness.

There is a woman in New Jersey so economical that, the other night, while her husband was abed, she turned and made over his last pair of pantaloons for one of the children. If she had gone to Beck & Waldman's, she would have found such economy unnecessary.

Lots of attraction to-night at the New Market Theater for the benefit of Geo. S. Knight. See the Merry Makers.

Peter Wilhelm, at the "Fountain," First and Ash streets, keeps things in a cozy shape. His billiard tables are much admired and the new Virginius table is a great favorite. Call and see him.

W. L. Adams, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. A lady always in the office to assist in treating women.

DEAFNESS,

SEATTLE ITEMS.

Our Seattle correspondent, writing under date of May 9th, sends the following:

The bark Enoch Talcot is nearly ready for sea with Seattle coal.

Thos. Jackson is erecting a large hotel on Commercial street, which, when completed, will be the largest building in the city.

Fraternal Bros will soon commence erecting a brick building on Commercial street, next to Colman's bank building, which will be occupied by them as a general merchandise establishment.

The Windward is to be hauled, the ballast in her of which she has 300 tons in her hold—taken out, and she is to be thoroughly overhauled and put in condition for the coast trade. It will doubtless cost Mr. Colman a handsome sum to do all this, but there is money in her or he would not have invested in the Windward.

Hammond is building a stern-wheel boat for Messrs. Strobel, Wright & Robbins (the two latter of Seattle and the former of Snohomish City), to run on the Snohomish river. She is small—about 80 feet long, 19 feet beam and four feet hold. Her machinery will be all new and is now being built in Portland. She will have two ten-inch cylinders, three feet stroke. She is a very pretty model, and will, no doubt, give satisfaction to her owners as well as proving a great convenience to the settlers on the Snohomish, who have long needed some such means of transportation. Hammond is to-day making preparations on his ways to haul out the old Eliza Anderson, which has for a long time been tied up at this place. Capt. D. B. Finch, owner of the Olympia, Anderson and (we think) W. C. Hunt, is at present in town, and is having the work done. It is asserted that he intends spending some $10,000 in repairing her with the intention of placing opposition on the route from Olympia to Victoria. It is also said that the Wilson G. Hunt is to be brought from San Francisco and will run with the Anderson on this line against the Starr steamers. His presence here and the repairs on the steamers, soon to be made, give more color to this supposition than to any of the many similar reports which have been current on the Sound for the past six months.

A Brain-Soothing Remedy.

The wondrous organ that crowns the edifice of man is not only the seat of reflection and the home of ideality, but it is the governing centre of the nervous system. When it is overwrought, unduly excited, or affected by irregularities of those bodily organs with which it most closely sympathizes, all the nerves suffer, and the general health is impaired. The reason why Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exercise such a soothing influence upon the brain is, that they remove those digestive and bilious derangements which react injuriously upon it, and that in relieving irritation or weakness of the great sympathetic nerve which connects the stomach and the brain, they beneficially affect the latter or both, as well as the former. Sound sleep, clearness of mind, easy digestion and freedom from biliousness are insured by this prime regulative tonic and nervine.

For Coughs and Throat Disorders, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches," having proved their efficiency by a test of many years.

BLUE LIGHT.

Some weeks since an account of the wonderful discoveries made by Dr Ponza in regard to the medicinal properties of colored rays of light, was laid before the readers of the Times. It now appears that the distinguished Italian was anticipated in his discoveries by General Pleasonton, of the United States Army, who for several years past, has been in the habit of prescribing blue glass as a remedy for nervous diseases and a stimulant for fragile pigs and delicate army mules, and who has met uninterrupted success in his novel line of practice.

The long list of cures cited by Gen Pleasonton in support of his theory of the extraordinary tonic powers of blue light ought to be full of interest to laymen as well as to medical men. He tells us of a lady who suffered from nervous irritation and exhaustion, who was cured by a mixture of blue and white light. He also cites the case of another lady who had "consumption of the nerves," and who recovered her health after a course of blue light, taken pure, and without any flavoring. Two Major-Generals, each with a collection of stiffened fingers, resulting from rheumatism, were cured by bathing their fingers daily in blue light, and rubbing it well in. Boys with unsatisfactory legs, and girls with more tremors than are necessary or useful; babies who showed a marked determination to die before reaching the age of buttons and button-holes, and pronounced in a vague but objectionable way, and mysteriously described as invalid, all suddenly became healthy and strong after taking a few panes of blue glass. These cases, which are duly attested by letters from the patients or their friends, demonstrate the efficacy of Gen. Pleasonton's remedy, and suggest the question whether he had not better trade his commission for the diploma of some warlike doctor, and henceforth devote himself to the healing art.

Although the cures wrought by Gen Pleasonton's blue light specific are of undeniable importance in the eyes of every philanthropist, his experiments upon the pig and mule creation are perhaps still more extraordinary. He has proved that army mules suffering from deafness can be perfectly cured by keeping their ears exposed to rays of blue light. Pigs and chickens have been raised by Gen. Pleasonton under blue glass, and have grown with a rapidity positively alarming. A bull calf, nourished by blue rays, reached his perfect bullhood when he was only four months old. Gen. Pleasonton confesses that the animal "fulfilled every expectation," that he had formed of him; but it would have added to the interest of the narrative had the General informed us how far the precocious bull threw him, and whether his personal bruises readily yielded to the influence of blue light.

With such facts as these as his guide, the intelligent farmer ought hereafter to make a rapid fortune as a stock-raiser. Early in March he will prepare his blue glass hot-bed in which he will start his early pigs, and bring them to a condition for transferring to the pig-pen, long before his rivals who adhere to the old system can show a single delicate snout. In another hot-bed he will hatch his spring chickens and bring them to market a month before ordinary and unassisted hens have dreamed of setting. His barn yard will be dotted here and there with numerous bell-shaped covers of blue glass, under which a colt, or calf, or a lamb, will be seen growing with almost visible rapidity. Under this hot-bed system we may expect that animals of all kinds will attain a hitherto unknown size, and it is quite possible that after a few years we shall develop new breeds of horses with the strength of elephants, and new varieties of pigs rivaling the hippopotamus in size.

On Thursday morning of last week, at Nanaimo, G. W. McGregor and Andrew Hunter got on the "cage" to go down into the shaft of the Douglas mine. When the "cage" began to descend, the engineer found that he had forgotten to put his engine in gear, and the cage went down 300 feet as rapidly as a stone would fall that distance. McGregor was killed, but, strange to say, Hunter was but slightly hurt.

A few years ago, Bismarck sent his portrait to Mr. Stewart, requesting the great merchant's in return. A young friend, who had vainly endeavored to obtain one for himself, said, "You will be obliged to have a portrait taken now." "Oh, no," said Stewart. "How can you avoid it?" "Very easily," was the reply; "instead of the photograph I shall send the chancellor a check for a thousand dollars for the benefit of the starving population of one of the districts of Prussia." He did so, and soon after received a cordial autograph letter of thanks for his generosity from the crown princess.

It is said that the oldest church edifice in America, except a Romish church in St. Augustine, is St. Luke's, Isle of Wight county, Virginia, about five miles from Smithfield. It was built as early 1035, and after being roofless for a century, the present roof was put on somewhere between 1830 and 1835. It is now used for worship, and the grounds around it are used for burial. Its thick wall and high tower are still strong.—N. Y. Herald.

The Treaty Again.

Some inquiry having arisen as to when the new treaty between the United States and the Kingdom of Hawaii will take effect, we give the following part of the 4th and 5th articles bearing on that point:

ARTICLE 4. The present convention shall take effect (as soon as it shall have been approved and proclaimed by His Majesty the King of the Hawaiian Islands, and shall have been ratified and duly proclaimed on the part of the government of the United States and the forms required to carry it into operation passed by the Congress of the United States of America, such assent having been given and the ratifications of the convention having been exchanged as provided in Article 6.

ART. 5. The present convention shall be duly ratified and the ratifications exchanged at Washington city within eighteen months from the date thereafter, or earlier, if possible.

It is only necessary to add that the date referred to in section 5 is January 20, 1875, and the treaty must therefore go into effect on or before the 1st day of July next, as we read its provisions.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

640 Acres four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

2,000 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, be ginning lake (the east) boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately ready to cultivated, and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels, to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons, for colony of persons, desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages, on more favorable terms than they can ever expect to realize again.

Assignee's Sale of Real Estate.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE UNdersigned assignee of the estate of John Nation, bankrupt, will at public auction on Saturday, the 13th day of May, 1876, at 10 o'clock A. M. at the office of Oscar Kilbourn, corner of First and Pine streets, the following described real estate, to wit: "Lots one (1) and two (2) in block "L" and all of that portion of lots three (3) and four (4) lying west of fifty feet from the east line of lot 3 and 4, in block "L," also all that part of block "H," bounded and described as follows: Commencing at the northwest corner of lot four (4) in block "L" running thence along west to low water mark; thence southerly along the meandering of the Willamette river to the north line of block "L," thence east along said line to a point directly south of the place of beginning thence north to the place of beginning, situate in Kerns' Addition to the city of East Portland, Multnomah county. The above property will be sold subject to a certain mortgage given by Nation on the 16th of July, 1874, for two thousand dollars, with interest at one per cent. per month, in gold, upon which mortgage there is now due the sum of $515 33.

At the same time and place I will also sell the following described real estate, and upon which is situated a valuable dwelling house. "All that tract of land situated in the county of Multnomah, State of Oregon, described as follows: Commencing at low water mark on the Willamette river west of the southeast corner of block nineteen (19) in the town of Brooklyn; running thence east to a stake thirty (30) feet east of block eighteen (18); thence south to the south line of a certain piece of land sold by Gideon Tibbetts to Lewis Love and recorded on page 601 in book "A" of deeds; thence west along said line to the Willamette river; thence northerly along the meanderings of said river to the place of beginning.

The last mentioned property will be sold subject to a certain mortgage made by said Nation on the 14th of November, 1873, for $50 0, with interest at one per cent. per month, and upon which there is now due the sum of $28.

Sales will be for cash. Deeds at purchaser's expense. CHARLES H. WOODWARD, Ordinance No. 1753.

AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE TIME and manner of improving that part of C street lying between North First and North Third streets.

The city of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. The proposed improvement of that part of C street lying between the west line of North First street and the center of North Third street, shall be completed as hereinafter provided on or before the fifteenth day of June, 1876.

Section 2. The surface of the street shall be cleared of all timber, plank or other obstructions, sidewalks and plank roadways of the proper width and grade, and otherwise in good condition excepted. If the obstructions are not removed within three days after notice from the Superintendent of Streets they shall be removed by and become the property of the contractor.

Section 3. The improvement shall consist of grading, laying sidewalks crosswalks, plank gutters and a plank roadway sixteen feet in width.

Section 4. The grading, sidewalks, crosswalks, plank gutters and sixteen foot roadway shall correspond as nearly as practicable to the provisions of sections 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 of Ordinance No. 793 entitled "an Ordinance in relation to the improvement of streets," except that the stringers for the roadway shall be 4 by 8 inches instead of 4 by 6 inches.

Section 5. The provisions of sections 11 and 12 of said Ordinance No. 793, shall apply to all lumber and material used in the improvement provided for by this Ordinance.

Section 6. The contractor shall take entire charge of the work during its progress, and shall be responsible for any loss or accident resulting from carelessness or neglect.

Section 7. The improvement shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Committee on Streets and Public Property and the Superintendent of Streets.

Section 8. The Committee on Streets and Public Property are hereby authorized to advertise for, receive proposals and enter into contract with the lowest responsible bidder or bidders for the improvement specified in this Ordinance.
